

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Denise has a proposition for Adam.

Learning Outcome

Describe the reasons or results of events or actions in spoken or written texts, in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you gone to a work conference before?
- Why would someone attend a work conference?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk or report about things, actions, events, or people related to work and job issues.
- I can discuss reasons and results of an event or an action related to work and jobs.
- I can exchange complex professional information related to work and job issues.

Let's Explore!

Denise meets Adam in the hallway. She wants to discuss an e-mail she received this morning.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Denise: Adam, can you pop by my office? Because we need to discuss your proposal.
- Adam: Sure.
- Denise: Please, sit down. Don't mind the noise, they are working on something next door. So your e-mail said you have an idea to help us get more exposure for our new title, Winnie's World. I like you taking the initiative. Tell me more.
- Adam: There is a nationwide teacher's convention in Chicago next week. There is going to be teachers and school board administrators from around the country converging at the Hilton in Chicago. They are going to be going to conferences, seminars and workshops for the entire week. During that time, there will be several publishers selling their merchandise and now that we have Winnie's World up and running, I think this conference would give us a great platform to sell this book. We've been working hard to get it ready and this could be a great opportunity. What do you think?
- Denise: Since no one brought it up until now, I haven't considered it. Aren't we cutting it a little close? Aren't events like these always demanding bookings made well in advance?
- Adam: I thought we were going to be cutting it a little close as well, but I talked to them today and it turns out, they had some last minute cancellations, so if we let them know by tomorrow, they would be able to accommodate us.
- Denise: I'm intrigued. Good work.
- Adam: Also, Denise. Um, I was wondering. Seeing that this is kind of my idea, I would like to be a part of the sales team. If that would be ok.
- Denise: Ok. Adam, but there's just one thing. As the conference is in Chicago, and since we have a tight budget, we are going to need you to put in a funding request. So, I'd like you to write a funding request for me and have it ready by tomorrow. If we get funding, you can be part of the sales team.
- Adam: Ok. I've never written one before.
- Denise: Don't worry. Just take the ball and run with it.

Let's Practice!

Adam and Denise discuss the upcoming conference.

Instructions: Circle the correct answer to complete the sentence correctly. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- Don't mind / take the noise, they are working on something next door.
- I like you taking / take the initiative.
- Just take the action / ball and run with it.
- They are going to be go / going to conferences, seminars and workshops for the entire week.
- Aren't events like these always demanding bookings made badly / well in advance?
- So your e-mail said you have an idea to help us get more exhibit / exposure for our new title, Winnie's World.
- Since / But we have a tight budget, we are going to need you to put in a funding request.

Let's Practice!

Adam is trying to sell his idea.

Instructions: Use the words from the box to correctly complete the sentences. Use capital letters where necessary.

Word Bank

accommodate / turns out / if we let them know / there is a / selling / talked to them today / convention / during that time

1. _____ nationwide teacher's _____ in Chicago next week.
2. _____, there will be several publishers _____ their merchandise.
3. I _____ and it _____ they had some last minute cancellations.
4. So, _____ by tomorrow, they would be able to _____ us.

Extension Activity

A senior class president speech.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Imagine that there is a campaign for one student to become the senior class president. This person will be a representative for the senior class and deal with student matters.
- Imagine that you are going to run for the position of senior class president.
- Write a speech that highlights why you would make a good senior class president. Include reasons why you want to be president and explain your intentions for the position.
- Research online for ideas or videos that show students giving speeches.
- Present your speech to your class.
- Discuss which speech would win the campaign. Explain which intentions would make for a successful president.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I research online for ideas about senior class president campaigns and speeches.

☐ ☐

I write a speech that includes my intentions if I win.

☐ ☐

I present my speech in class.

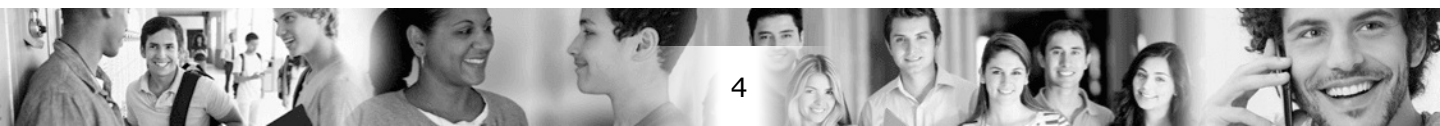

☐ ☐

I discuss my opinions about which person would make the best senior class president.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- exposure (noun): the amount of public attention that someone or something receives
Example: So your e-mail said you have an idea to help us get more exposure.
- to take the initiative (verb): to proactively do something
Example: I like you taking the initiative. Tell me more.
- to converge (verb): come from different directions and meet
Example: There is going to be teachers and school board administrators from around the country converging at the Hilton in Chicago.
- platform (noun): an opportunity to make your ideas or beliefs known publicly Example: I think this conference would give us a great platform to sell this book.
- to cut it close (verb): to not leave enough time for some unexpected situation that might happen
Example: Aren't we cutting it a little close?
- to accommodate (verb): to provide sufficient space for something or someone Example: They would be able to accommodate us.
- run with the ball (expression): to continue an activity or process that someone else has started
Example: Just take the ball and run with it.

Learning Points

Reason and Result Clauses Using Participles

When talking about the reasons for or the results of an action or a situation, you can use clauses introduced by conjunctions like because or since. However, to make your language use more varied, you can introduce reasons or results with participles.

Participles are words formed by the verb + ing and used as adjectives or nouns. You can use them as part of a reason or result clause.

For example:

Being preoccupied with my work, I forgot to eat lunch. (Reason)

Having finished my work, I decided to go on a long walk. (Result)

Examples:

- I like you taking the initiative.
- There is going to be teacher's convention converging at the Hilton in Chicago.
- Aren't events like these always demanding bookings made well in advance?
- Seeing that this is kind of my idea, I would like to be a part of the sales team.

Learning Points

The Present Continuous and Be Going To

You use the Present Continuous tense to talk about a variety of situations. You use be going to to talk about the future.

Refer to the chart for the uses of the Present Continuous and how it compares to be going to:

Tense	Use/Meaning	Example
Present Continuous	to tell a story - it makes the action seem more direct (as if it is happening right now)	I'm standing outside the bank and then this guy comes up and asks for money.
Present Continuous	to talk about what people have arranged to do	Tom is coming to the meeting this afternoon.
Be going to	to talk about intentions for the future	We are going to present this to the team next week.

Examples:

- Don't mind the noise, they are working on something next door.
- I like you taking the initiative.
- They are going to be going to conferences, seminars and workshops for the entire week.
- Aren't events like these always demanding bookings made well in advance?
- Since we have a tight budget, we are going to need you to put in a funding request.

